National Industry Career Specialist Program

ADDRESSING THE NEEDS OF
EMPLOYERS AND PLANTING THE SEEDS
FOR A FUTURE WORKFORCE

The National Industry Career Specialist project is funded by the Department of Education, Employment and Workplace Relations (DEEWR) under the Career Advice Australia initiative to work with key stakeholders, industry, employers and businesses about emerging skills needs, training pathways and career opportunities within the Community Services and Health industries.

Under the CAA initiative, the National Industry Career Specialist (NICS) program provides industry sector specific and high quality career information on the Community Services and Health industries through its Community Active Careers website and through its involvement in Career Advice Programs.

Community Active Careers provides an unprecedented opportunity for business and industry to encourage young people to undertake rewarding careers in our industries acting as a one-stop online destination.
